

Mirades Security Gains Two New Partners

Montreal, 23 November 2022 - Mirades Security announces with great pleasure the arrival of two new partners who will propel the company into a new era of growth as a world leader in the field of private security.

From left to right: Mivil Deschênes, Eugenia Tsatsos, Lili-Ann Mitchell.

After several years of collaboration, Lili-Ann Mitchell and Eugenia Tsatsos join Mivil Deschênes at the head of Mirades Security to support its development.

Mirades Security offers security consulting services to private companies as well as to governmental and para-governmental organizations. The Mirades approach is focused on assessing and mitigating security risks and threats, thereby providing its clients with practical and strategic solutions that prepare for any eventuality.

Mivil Deschênes, LCol (Ret'd), CD Following a long career in the Canadian Armed Forces, Mr. Deschênes chose to apply and broaden his skills in the corporate world. He founded Mirades Security in 2016 and will continue acting as a strategic executive and expert advisor, head of security and financial director.

Lili-Ann Mitchell, MSc Crim, CPP, CISM As an expert in corporate and information security, Lili-Ann Mitchell has held operational and strategic security management positions with some of the most renowned multinational companies. Motivated by the desire to share the knowledge acquired along her journey, she currently teaches undergraduate students in security and police studies at the University of Montreal. As a partner of Mirades Security, Ms. Mitchell is responsible for managing operations, teams and processes while providing her expertise in corporate and information security.

Eugenia Tsatsos, PSP, C. Tr. Certified in physical security and specialized in emergency management, Ms. Tsatsos is a seasoned professional in the design and execution of security programs. Now a Mirades Security partner, her functions include risk analysis, audits, execution of mandates, as well as communications and documentation management.

Marie Claude Goupil and Jacques Sénéchal will continue their respective roles as security and emergency measures advisors to support Mirades's clients as they scale.

To highlight this organizational renewal, Mirades Security has launched a newly redesigned website, enhanced to reflect their increased ability to meet new challenges. Visit Miradesinc.com to learn more about the team and services offered. For any questions or inquiries, contact us at info@miradesinc.com or +1 (514) 887-8321.