

BFL CANADA | Business Resilience

PANDEMIC PLANNING – COVID-19

BFL CANADA, in partnership with Mirades, has the expertise to help companies with Business Resilience planning to prepare, respond and manage through recovering from the current global COVID-19 pandemic crisis.

The Business Resilience pandemic planning program offered by Mirades is widely acclaimed by international security authorities and encompasses the following scope of services:

| | |
|---|--|
|  Setting up your incident management team |  Working from home policy |
|  Pandemic Planning Guide |  HR procedures, including remuneration policy |
|  List of best practices |  COVID-19 scenarios decision matrix |
|  Travel advisory |  Participate in regular calls with your Incident Management team |
|  Personnel hygiene |  Managing the supply chain (Clients and Suppliers) |
|  Screening of personnel |  Internal and external communication |

Led by the President, Mivil Deschênes, Mirades is composed of an experienced team of security specialists who are renowned for their expertise in delivering business-enabling security services and solutions.

Mirades holds a Secret Canadian government security clearance and is a licensed Corporate Security Consultant.

For companies interested in learning more about these services, please contact:

Mivil Deschênes

President of Mirades Inc. | 514-887-8321

About Mivil Deschênes

Mivil Deschênes has been a successful pioneer in the private and corporate security industry for over 35 years. Mirades's president started his career in the Canadian Armed Forces, where he successfully completed 20 years of service, receiving the Canadian Decoration as well as the Special Service Medal for his services with NATO.

Moving on from the military to the corporate world, Mivil was the Global Head of Security for two of the world's leading companies in both the mining and engineering sectors. Developing effective corporate security strategy, managing personnel security, cyber security, physical security, business resilience, investigations and intelligence, as well as all security risk assessments. Over the past 15 years, he has been successfully leading the response to numerous crisis situations including kidnapping, pandemic, illegal arrests and natural disasters.

Mivil has taken his expertise to a new level by creating his company Mirades inc. With his in depth knowledge and experience of corporate and private security, and extensive network of relationships and contacts within the governmental, corporate and private sectors, Mivil aims to provide superior security services and solutions to his clients.

Mivil is also a life member of The International Security Management Association (ISMA) as well as an active member of numerous associations including the International Association of Chiefs of Police, the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police, ASIS International, and he is a Certified Fraud Examiner.